Director's Column

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR....

LIBRARY CARD SIGN UP

"THERE IS A LOT A
LIBRARY CARD CAN DO FOR YOU BUT IN SOME WAYS IT ALSO OFFERS A LOT OF OPPORTUNITIES."

"Way back in 2007 when I was attending a library conference, I picked up a handout entitled "Libraries Transform Communities". It was slickly done in bold lime and navy blue, about a 48 point font size for the cover title, a page of bulleted tips for creating change, a Q&A and tools I could use. It was a work of art. I glanced at it then walked on to the next scintillating library workshop.

14 years later I'm looking at what I should write for my next column and wouldn't you know, here I come across that limey-looking brochure. Believe me, you can't miss it. And maybe that's the point. It's filled with all kinds of quotes regarding change but two happen to strike me more than the others. This first one, not surprisingly, is from Charles Darwin. He said, 'It is not the strongest of the species that survives nor the most intelligent, but the one most responsive to change.' And that's what this column is about."(CONTINUE READING HERE)
